

DIETETICS GRADUATE PROGRAM, MPH

PUBH 699	Capstone Project II	3
Total Hours		49-51

The Consortium of Eastern Ohio Master of Public Health (CEOMPH) program is a partnership between The University of Akron, Cleveland State University, Northeastern Ohio Medical University, and Youngstown State University.

The Dietetic GP MPH program track provides students the opportunity to gain knowledge as well as clinical experience in three main areas: food service administration, medical nutrition therapy, and community nutrition. The program is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND). Degrees for students enrolled at The University of Akron are granted by The University of Akron. The Consortium of Eastern Ohio Master of Public Health program is accredited by the Council on Education for Public Health.

Admission Requirements

Prerequisite courses include: CHEM 114 Introduction to General, Organic & Biochemistry (Lecture); CHEM 115 Introduction to General, Organic & Biochemistry (Laboratory); STAT 260 Basic Statistics; BIOL 130 Principles of Microbiology; ANAT 206 Applied Human Anatomy & Physiology I; ANAT 210 Applied Human Anatomy & Physiology Lab I; ANAT 207 Applied Human Anatomy & Physiology II; ANAT 211 Applied Human Anatomy & Physiology Lab II; NUTR 133 Nutrition Fundamentals or equivalents.
