

ARCHIVES AND SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

Archives and Special Collections (formerly Archival Services) of University Libraries (<https://www.uakron.edu/libraries/>) collects, preserves, and provides access to primary and secondary source materials that document the history of The University of Akron and the region in order to support the operational needs of the institution and the teaching and research activities at the university and in the wider intellectual community. The department consists of University Archives, Special Collections, and Records Management. University Archives serves as the official repository of The University of Akron and its predecessor institutions from its founding as Buchtel College in 1870 to the present and includes the official records of the university that have lasting historical value. Special Collections serves as an archival repository for historic materials that document the history of the geographic region of which the university is a part and includes personal papers and records of local governments, businesses, labor unions, and civic, religious, and cultural organizations. Collecting focuses include the history of Akron/Summit County, the rubber and polymer industry, lighter-than-air flight, Ohio canals, the B-26 Marauder and 9th Air Force, and the book and print culture. Records Management provides campus offices guidance and training regarding the retention and disposition of university records in all formats. Archives and Special Collections hosts historical displays and exhibitions and provides reference and research assistance, primary source instruction, and class visits and tours.

Website: The University of Akron Archives and Special Collections
(<https://collections.uakron.edu/>)