

GERONTOLOGY, CERTIFICATE

Certificate in Gerontology (300006C)

This certificate program is a special course of study in gerontology that complements undergraduate degree programs in various departments and colleges throughout the University. Individuals who already hold an undergraduate degree may also pursue the certificate. The program represents a concentration involving current knowledge and research in gerontology. It adds another dimension to the knowledge and skills a student is able to offer in the many professions that are becoming specialized in research and service to adults and older adults. This course of study coordinates multi-disciplinary training of personnel in adult development and aging and helps to meet the critical shortage of trained individuals in the field of gerontology. Students also engage in interprofessional education, learning alongside students from different disciplines, which helps prepare students for employment in our increasingly team-based workforce.

Requirements for Admission

To participate in the program, a student must:

- Obtain admittance to The University of Akron as an undergraduate or post-baccalaureate student.
- Submit an application to the program countersigned by the student's major academic advisor.
- Participate in an interview with a designated faculty member of the Institute for Life-Span Development and Gerontology.
- Consult with the Director or designated faculty member to formulate a program of study.
- Complete and submit the BCAS Add Program form.
- Receive written notification of admission from the Director of the Institute for Life-Span Development and Gerontology.
